

Liquid-multivitamin/herbal formula for kids up to three years old.

When it comes to your children, you want only the best. Nothing else will do, and Herbalife realizes this. So, in developing a liquid vitamin supplement for kids age three and under, Herbalife sought out the finest ingredients and conceived the most advanced formulations.

The result is Kindermins®.

This liquid-vitamin supplement is the perfect way to help your children get off to a healthy start in life. It is also the ideal liquid-vitamin supplement to give to children. That's because Kindermins® is formulated to be smooth and soothing on a young child's digestive system.* This enables Kindermins® to be absorbed easily and efficiently.*

In addition, Kindermins® is a major source of antioxidants—and this antioxidant protection is reinforced by a choice blend of premium-quality herbs.*

In today's fast-paced, fast-food world, it's rare that children get the kind of exercise and nutrition they need to grow up healthy. The good eating habits parents help a child establish, even within the first few years, can set the tone for their health throughout the rest of their lives. But especially in formative early years, children need all the nutritional support they can get!

As children grow from infants into toddlers and begin to assimilate solid foods into their diets, you'll quickly find that they know exactly what they will and won't eat. If your child is a picky eater, and most are at some point, a multi-vitamin is a great idea to make sure he or she is getting the proper nutrients. Also, keep in mind, just because your child may be a "good eater" with certain foods, it doesn't necessarily mean that he or she is getting the correct balance of vitamins and minerals.

Vitamins A, C and E all offer antioxidant properties to protect your child from harmful free radicals that can damage his or her development. Vitamin A is necessary for the growth and repair of tissue, skin and bones. Vitamin C helps the body resist infection, strengthens blood vessels and helps heal wounds. Vitamin E nourishes the cells by improving blood flow and strengthening the function of the heart and other organs.

Give your children the healthy start in life they deserve. Give them Kindermins®.

Discussion Points

- Smart start: Many liquid-vitamin supplements are not ideally suited for very young children. But Kindermins® is made from an herbal base that includes chamomile, alfalfa and rosehips. This makes it perfect for children three and under.*
- Cellular protection: Kindermins® contains vitamins C and E, as well as beta carotene. The result is cellular-level protection for very young children.*

Did You Know?

Chamomile flower extract has been demonstrated to have anti-inflammatory and soothing effects on the stomach. It is also effective in fighting bacteria and can even be applied topically to promote healthy skin. Because of its smooth, soothing action, chamomile extract has a history of use for children's health issues.
