

Mega Garlic Plus

Natural support for good health.

For thousands of years, people all over the world have been using garlic for everything from warding off evil spirits to preventing colds. According to modern science, it looks like the ancient medicine man was right—at least about garlic's healthy attributes.

Garlic may not ward off vampires, but as the numerous scientific studies continue to indicate, it certainly appears that this tasty herb plays a major role in health.

Garlic acts as an extremely effective antioxidant to protect the body from damaging free radicals.* Studies even have shown that the babies of nursing mothers who eat garlic are likely to nurse longer and drink more of the mother's milk.

The most common side-effect of eating raw or cooked garlic is the dreaded "garlic breath." The distinctive garlic smell is caused by a naturally occurring compound called allicin that forms when cut or crushed garlic interacts with air. While most people enjoy the taste of garlic, it's not practical to eat raw cloves every day to reap the health benefits, and doing so can be irritating to the digestive system. Mega Garlic Plus tablets are a convenient way to get all the benefits without having to load up on spaghetti sauce at every meal.

Herbalife has combined the highest-quality garlic with synergistic and compatible herbs to create Mega Garlic Plus, an exclusive product that increases each garlic's healthy actions.* And you can enjoy garlic's wholesome goodness without the aftertaste normally associated with garlic tablets.

Discussion Points
